Our Voices on Stage

It has come to my attention that the number of Aotearoa/New Zealand stories finding their way on to our stages, is increasing at a very fast rate. Not just from some of the more recognised playwrights either – but from co-operatives and school groups, from tertiary graduates and community groups.

People are often telling their local stories. Be it about the foundations of their community or an aspect of service that needs to be illuminated. Most of these stories, although particular to a community, have about them a commonality. Suffering or success is not peculiar to one town or country sector. Many of the stories (although based in New Zealand), are as international in their relevance, as any play written in America, Britain, Europe or Australia performed by our theatre groups.

In the last Backchat I enquired: “Is your membership dying?” This was asking you to assess your administrative processes and practices. Now I ask:

Are you being theatrically relevant?

Is your community tiring of the menu being served?

Are you nurturing new playwrights in your community?

“From little acorns, great oaks will grow.”

So why don't you tap into your young/new/aspiring playwrights, who have stories to tell.

There is a section in TheatreFest that stimulates, acknowledges and awards new, New Zealand scripts. This could be a big step in your community and theatre group – in bringing to the stage a local story or perspective of some sort. With the plays' length needing to be between 15 and 50 minutes, it's not too big a step for someone to have a try. Go to our website and TheatreFest for further information on new New Zealand plays.

I also want to draw to your attention that Theatre New Zealand doesn't just provide workshops in Acting/Directing/Designing.

We can also help you with: Governance, Managing Volunteers, Administering Your Society.

I hope you have an adventurous, scintillating, provoking, amusing and moving 2014 theatrical year.

Bryan Aitken
National President

National Treasurer

Welcome to Blair
Kershaw

A very warm welcome to our new national treasurer Blair Kershaw. He lives in Christchurch where his day job is as Accounts Manager for nood.

Blair has had theatre connections with a couple of theatre companies. When Christchurch Theatre Workshop Inc was almost insolvent he was initially co-opted as Company Treasurer and quickly moved into hands-on production management. A highlight of his time with CTW was their production of Wonderland a fundraising venture for the Child Cancer Foundation.

At the same time as Wonderland was on he was co-opted onto Canterbury Repertory Theatre Society's Executive Committee and then was immediately asked to become Company Treasurer. Later he also took on various roles with them including production manager.

Participate, Educate, Innovate

Your National Executive has been working on a publicity booklet to raise our profile. We are very grateful to The Light Site for helping us with the cost of printing www.lightsite.co.nz The A5 eight page coloured booklet will be distributed nationwide next month. Stand tall and share it with prospective members.

Havelock Theatre Company

New to Theatre New Zealand membership, Ian Cameron writes of this group's history

Havelock Theatre, Marlborough was founded in 1999 by actor/playwright Don Edwards. He continues to be actively involved and along with fellow actor playwright Rick Edmonds they each write plays for the Theatre's summer season.

In fact most of the plays produced are by local writers but this pattern was broken in January/February 2011 when the off-Broadway musical Lucky Stiff was presented. This remains as the Company's most successful show ever, by box office standards. An extended season was required.

The Company also stages a second show each year, in early spring. In the past several years this has been a variety show showcasing local talents. The Theatre has a policy of including all interested local school children both in acting and technical fields.

The Theatre does not have a home of its own but uses the historic Havelock Town Hall (built in 1902). The Hall can seat 96 in café style seating. Patrons are encouraged to bring refreshments with them. Over the past three years Bladen Wines and two local restaurants ("Mussel Pot" and "Slip Inn") have sponsored the Gala Opening Nights.

The Company has a policy of using a percentage of the profits from its productions to improve the Hall facilities- over the years it has provided tables, new curtaining and a motorised screen.

The Company won the Trustpower Community Award for Arts and Culture in both 2010 and 2013. The citations comment that The Havelock Theatre Company offers the community top-class theatre.

Wally Gitt and the Havelock Mission to Mars by Rick Edmonds

Havelock schoolchildren discover time capsules left behind by father of nuclear physics Ernest Rutherford and "rocket man" William Pickering. These illustrious past pupils left envelopes for their nearest descendent living in the town. It turns out that the Four Square grocer Wally Gitt, played by Ian Cameron, ("with unflagging energy") is related to both renowned scientists. but unfortunately Wally is not as bright as he might be.

A Havelock space agency is formed and a rocket built to be sent to Mars, based on information in the envelopes.

The ascent of the Four Square-sponsored rocket, with Wally onboard, is the smoky highlight of the "laugh a minute" play with its cast of 25.

And how did the Company make the rocket? They found a "rocket engineer". Long time member Greg Bettjeman down plays his skills and says he's a 44 gallon drumologist. He just welded two drums together. A huge smoke cannon he built for a previous production using six metre long piston pumps, a winch and huge bungy cords under the stage came into its own again with smoke belching towards the audience on cue when triggered by an actor on the stage.

Elmwood Players

Jack, the Giant and the Jiggery Plot by Richard Blythe

Another indoor family summer play took place at Elmwood Players in Christchurch. The 70 minute telling of the classic fairy tale Jack and the Beanstalk has a twist: the dimwitted Jack becomes an unsuspecting accomplice in a jiggery plot to kidnap a princess to appease the fearsome giant's appetite. Will Jack be able to use his wits to defeat the giant and save the princess?

This is Elmwood's fifth consecutive year of producing summer Children's Theatre. Rehearsals start before Christmas in readiness for ten performances in January. Average audience is 35 as the play 'competes' with outdoor activities in the summer sun; rain is their friend.

Jack (Kat Forrester) gets his ear pinched by his mother Mrs Wigglebottom (Sarah Coursey), part of the all female cast of 9. The Giant was done as a voice over SFX.

Association of New Zealand Drama Adjudicators

ANZDA plans two accreditation seminars in March/April, in Wellington and another in Christchurch or Dunedin. Dates TBC.

Theatre practitioners with over ten years experience are eligible to apply for accreditation. This is a practical seminar, held over one afternoon/evening/morning.

A short-list has been started – but if you wish to confirm your interest or want to add your name to the list, please contact:
bryanaitken@paradise.net.nz secretary of ANZDA, sending a full CV.

We have also been advised that fees for ANZDA adjudicators have increased. It is recommended that fees shall be $75 ($60 previously) for a one act play and $120 ($100) for a Full Length play.

ELEVATOR by Jess Sayer (3w)

Elevator is the story of 3 women - each with a very dangerous secret. When Harper, Samantha and Bree are trapped in a broken-down elevator, keeping their secrets becomes harder than any of them thought. The masks are up. The smiles are on. Everybody has a story – and they're sticking to it.

BOWLED OVER by Kathryn Burnett (8w 5m)

Plans for the Balmoral Bowling Club's 100th anniversary party are crushed when obsequious council bureaucrat Rhys Van de Camp announces that it is in violation of several council bylaws. The largely retired members of the club are horrified and set about planning their fight to save it. Rhys steps right into it... but somewhere between his 2nd and 3rd Neenish tart he chokes and dies. It would seem that the members of the Balmoral Bowling Club now have a corpse to dispose of... A perfect vehicle for senior actors. "Hilarious" – NZ Herald

WHODUNNIT? by Paul Jenden (3 people)

A very short absurd play for three voices.

CHUB by Thomas Sainsbury (2w 1m)

Ann Van Venn is morbidly obese and living/hiding in her unit on Tainui Street. Stacey Wipongi is her anorexic carer with a penchant for cosmetic surgery. Together they come up with the best/kinkiest idea to make money and make all their dreams come true.

KING OF STAINS by David Geary (2w 4m)

Friday night. Wellington. Full moon. Six lonely people go crazy. The most dramatic stain removal since Lady Macbeth uttered 'out damned spot.' Suitable for Young Adults.

LITTLE DEATH by Kathryn van Beek (1w 1-4m)

A young woman discovers sex, pain, actors, philosophers, cars...and finally freedom.

SPIN by Conrad Newport (4w 3m)

With a bottle of vodka, a knife in his pocket and a chip on his shoulder, Mike confronts his ex-girlfriend in her music shop but events quickly get out of hand when no one takes him seriously. Suitable for Young Adults.

LOVEPUKE by Duncan Sarkies (4w 4m)

A whirlwind tour of true love. With funny and intense revelations this popular script taps directly into the relationship concerns of contemporary young adults everywhere.

MAGPIES by Campbell Smith (2m)

Two old men meet on a seat in a cemetery. The cry of magpies is heard. One of the men is menaced. He feels the cry is ominous for the magpies are taking over the land. The other old man is more rational. After talking the men leave. The seat is empty. The magpies remain.

THE BUTCHER AND THE BEAR by Michelanne Forster (1w 3m)

Bear and bird get into big trouble when spring arrives, and hungry, they venture into the village to find some food. They annoy the butcher, get caught by the gypsy, and have a terrible job getting free. Music is integral to the script. Great for small children.

REPLAY by Angie Farrow (2w 2m)

A brilliantly funny, very short play themed around infidelity, playing backwards in short replays.

THE BOWLER HAT by Angie Farrow (3-6w 4-8m)

A basket of the strange, the real, the impossible, and the disorientingly funny. It exists at the funeral of the Belgian surrealist painter René Magritte (1898-1967), and includes a detective investigating the death of Magritte's mother, a director of a play who is under the impression that the people at the funeral are her actors and dancers, and the loss of the dead painter's clothes.

THE BLACKENING by Paul Rothwell (3m)

A psychological thriller set on a decaying orchard where the inhabitants are as blighted as the trees they live under. Mal returns home to the two brothers he abandoned years before. Time has stood still in the home of his youth and Mal intends to start over and do things right. But as he discovers, the old orchard has secrets of its own. "You won't leave the theatre with a smile on your face and a skip in your step, in fact you might just want to sleep with the light on for a while ..." – Capital Times.

JACK WINTER'S DREAM by James K. Baxter (1w 6m)

Baxter's first play has all the richness and exciting imagery which filled his poetry in the fifties. Jack Winter, the old swagman, lies down for his last sleep in the ruins of "The Drover's Rest" and dreams of the colourful characters of gold-digging days who one stormy night filled the shanty pub with song and argument; laughter and deceit. Published by Victoria University Press and available from our Bookshop for $15.00.
